SEATBELT SAFETY

Using a seatbelt every time you and your child get in a car is one of the easiest ways to prevent death or injury. In 2009, 1314 children 14 years or younger were killed in a motor vehicle crash, and 179,000 were injured. Booster seats for children 4-7 years reduces the risk of injury by 59% compared to safety belts alone.

KNOW THE STAGES:

Birth through age 2:

- use a rear-facing car seat
- Buckle the car seat in the back seat
- Check the owner's manual for height/weight requirements

Between 2-4 years/Until 40 pounds:

- use forward-facing car seat
- buckle the car seat in the back seat
- Check the owner's manual for height/weight requirements
(usually can stay in this seat until age 4 and 40 pounds)

Between 4-8 years/Or until 4 feet 9 inches tall:

- Use a booster seat
- Buckle the child in the booster seat in the back seat of the car

After age 8 and/or 4 feet 9 inches tall:

- Child should use seat belt
- Does not need booster when the seat belt lays across the upper thighs (not the stomach), and the shoulder belt fits across the chest (not the neck)
- Child should stay in the back seat

All children younger than 13 years old should ride in the back seat. Airbags can kill young children riding in the front seat. Never place a rear facing car seat in the front seat or facing an airbag

Head Lice Q & A

What are lice?

Lice are tiny bugs that are 2mm long, gray colored, move quickly and are difficult to see. Nits are white eggs firmly attached to the hair shafts near the scalp, unlike dandruff nits cannot be shaken off hair shaft.

Lice can live up to 3 weeks on the scalp and/or 24hrs off the scalp.

Nits can only survive off the scalp for 2 weeks.

How do I get lice?

Only live lice can transmit to another child, nits cannot give lice to another child.

Almost all lice transmission is direct head to head contact.

Lice CANNOT Jump or fly to another person's hair.

Indirect transmission can occur from combs, brush, hats, and coats but is less likely.

Most transmission of lice occurs at home, not school. Sleepovers and bed-sharing are a major source.

How do I prevent or treat lice?

Check your child's head once a week.

Wear long hair off shoulders while at school.

Shampoo with sodium lauryl sulfate has been shown to help prevent lice.

Consult with your local pharmacist or doctor for proper head lice shampoo for treatment. Use a nit comb or fingernails to remove ALL nits from the hair shafts, separate hair into sections to ensure all nits are removed.

Use nit comb every day for a week to ensure all nits are removed and recheck the head a week later and retreat if necessary.

Vacuum areas of the house/cars that may be exposed, clean all clothes and bed sheets in hot water.

What does the research say about lice?

American Academy of Pediatrics states "no healthy child should be excluded from or miss school because of head lice."

What FCS policy on lice?

A student will be sent home for treatment if live lice are found on a child. 1 absence is excused per incident of lice for 2 occurrences. After these are used the absences are unexcused.

A student is permitted to stay at school with nits.

All buildings 1-6 use individual bags for belongings to decrease chance of transmission.
